PRIGHTCARS NEW HAVEN USES

OTHER RAILS SET OUT TO TRY. TEND MORE PAY FOR THEM.

It is still a good deal cheaper to borrow than to build and the owners of the cars object to limiting at the price the New England Road is willing to pay.

There promises to be a brief fight soon between the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad and the other roads of the country which are members of the American Railway Association about the rate to be paid by the New Haven for foreign cars which are used on its system, and it probably will not be settled until the matter has been brought to the law courts or before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Railroad men in the association are very much incensed with the New Haven, which they say is notorious for handling its business with the equipment of other roads. Attempts have been made to arrive at some terms with the New Haven, but in vain, and the roads have stated now that the only terms they will make are on the basis of the per diem rates of the association.

A traffic official had this to say on Saturday about the situation.

"An every one knows, there is more east-bound than west-bound freight hereabout and this eastbound freight invariably takes into New England cars of all kinds, so that the New England roads have never felt themselves obliged to buy many cars, but for many years have been doing most of their business in the cars of other people. This was a very profitable undertaking as long as cars were paid for by the mile. The rate of mileage was low and prior to 1902 the New Haven road used to pay a mill per car per mile, which amounted to something like 10 or 12 cents a day for the use of the cars. Of course, this was cheaper than buying cars and the New Haven did not build cars to any extent. In 1902 the basis of payment was changed by vote of the American Railway Association, and although the New Haven road strenuously objected, a per diem rate of 20 cents a day was put in force. This cost the New Haven road a good deal more than the mileage did, but it was so obvious that 20 cents a day was less than the cars were worth that they paid it.

"The rate remained at 20 cents up to July 1, 1906, when it was raised to 25 cents, again against the strenuous protest of the New Haven road. The protest was continued, but when in the car famine it was proposed to increase the rate to 50 cents the New Haven road gave first informal and then formal notice that it would withdraw from the per diem rule agreement.

"Rather curiously, they first withdrew from the American Railway Association and were for several months in the anomalous position of being opposed to an agreement which was regulated by a body of which they were not members. Now, however they have given notice that they will withdraw on October 1.

"Their connections have considered the matter and have notified them that they expect a reasonable compensation for the use of their cars and intend to insist upon it. This means, of course, that if the New Haven road refuses to pay a proper amount their connections will sue them for a proper compensation, and it is thought that there will be no difficulty in recovering as much as 75 cents or even a dollar a day when cars are scarce. To this notice the New Haven road has made the following reply:

"Your notice, dated August 30, 1907, has been received.

"This company is ready to enter into a reasonable arrangement with you for the interchange of cars, and is of opinion that such an arrangement ought to be made before October 1, 1907.

"Do you consider it reasonable to charge this company for the use of cars during the four days after delivery, when this company has no use of such cars because of the operation of the law giving consignees four days free of charge between delivery and final unloading?

"The cars to be delivered by you to this company will vary greatly in value, capacity and condition. How are we to ascertain what would be a reasonable charge per day for any particular car?

"How would you propose to classify cars and what would you consider it reasonable to charge for the different classes of cars to be delivered?

"And it is understood that their principal connections will send them the following rejoinder:

"Replying to your letter of the 12th inst., in which you state that you are ready to enter into a reasonable arrangement for the interchange of cars.

"This company considers the per diem rule agreement as approved by the American Railway Association a reasonable arrangement governing the interchange of freight equipment in all its aspects and in its entirety covering all the points raised by you.

"It is to be noted that all along the New Haven road has made no indication of what it is going to pay for other people's cars after the first of October, or what it intends to exact for their own cars. It really looks as though the withdrawal had been a hasty step taken without full consideration of the consequences.

Arrested as Steamer Was Sailing.

Detectives Elaba and Kerr boarded the steamship Alice of the Austro-American Line on Saturday afternoon as she was about leaving the pier at the foot of Forty-third street, South Brooklyn, and took off Cyril Coufal, said to be a deserter from one of the Austrian armored cruisers which came over to take part in the Jamestown exposition.

Coufal was arrested on a warrant secured by Eva Nemecek, a servant in the Hotel Endicott, at Eighty-first street and Columbus avenue, who charges him with the larceny of her affections and two rings valued at $6. Coufal was held in $500 bail for examination this afternoon.

EXAMINES HUSBAND'S MOTORS.

F. A. Judge Reviews Plans and Motives of F. A. Attorney Who Sued for Divorcement.

Boston, Sept. 22.—Federal Judge Whitson yesterday began the investigation in open court into the conduct of United States District Attorney Rock, who procured the indictment of United States Senator Borah and seven others for alleged conspiracy to defraud the Government of timber lands.

Certain of the defendants filed plans in abatement of the indictment on the ground of misconduct of the District Attorney, who it was alleged, practically coerced the Grand Jury into making the indictment. The plans were supported by the affidavit of three members of the Grand Jury and were denied in nine affidavits filed in behalf of Mr. Rock.

Judge Whitson said that before finally passing upon the plans he deemed an investigation necessary, the charges against the District Attorney being of a grave nature.

A special Grand Jury is now in session making a similar investigation of the witnesses summoned before Judge Whitson.

Senator Borah has not entered any plea of a technical character, but a desired address to the Government in the other cases may affect his trial, which is scheduled to begin to-morrow.

YOUNG WOMAN LIGHTLY CLAD

Found in Hotel Lobby Ten Blocks From Home in the Early Morning.

Guests of the Hotel Narragansett, Broadway near Ninety-third street, were awakened at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning by the screams of a woman. Many persons dressed and made their way to the office thinking that the house was on fire.

In the lobby stood a young woman who had on only her stockings and a many-colored dressing gown. The young woman was taken to the West 100th street police station, where she said that she was Bessie Toome of 222 West 103d street. A bondsman was found for her.

In the West Side court yesterday morning Miss Toome kept her face hidden from view by a heavy black veil, which she did not remove from the time she left her carriage until she returned to it. Edward S. Cameron, manager of the Narragansett, appeared against the young woman. Magistrate Harris fined her $10, which her lawyer paid.

Nobody appeared to know who Miss Toome got into the hotel. Apparently she had walked ten blocks from her home clad, or undressed, as she was.

NEWSBOY TOOK A WATCH.

Got It Away While Pretending to Sell a Newspaper.

George H. Tontrup, a Philadelphia, who is staying at the Waldorf-Astoria, was a complainant in the Jefferson Market police court yesterday against Harry Smith, a newsboy. Smith was charged with grand larceny.

The complainant said that he was on his way to his hotel at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning when Smith ran up to him and under the pretext of selling a paper stuck a party under his chin and stole his watch and fob. Tontrup felt the watch going and grabbed at Smith. The latter ran through Thirtieth street pursued by Tontrup.

The chase led down Seventh avenue and back through Twenty-ninth street, where Smith was headed off by two detectives of the West Twentieth street station. The watch was found on the boy.

Smith pleaded guilty before Magistrate Kernochan and was held in $2,000 bail for the Grand Jury.

SUNDAY UNREPEATED.

Four Jewish Butchers Arrested for Holy Day Selling.

Four East Side butchers were arrested yesterday morning and taken before Magistrate Wahl in the Yorkville court charged with Sunday selling. Each gave the same excuse, that he had read in the Wahreheit that the usual Sunday law would not be in effect yesterday because to-day is a Jewish holiday. It has been the custom to relax certain city ordinances during the Jewish holiday period, but Magistrate Wahl pointed out that the custom could make no difference with the Sunday law, which is a statute of the State. The prisoners were fined $5 each. All the arrests were made in the Fifth street precinct.

Policeman James Nestor, who arrested one of them, Joseph Hirsowitz, of 50 First street, was attacked by a crowd of relatives and neighbors. The father and mother of the prisoner, Gene Weiss and his wife, were arrested for interfering. They were paroled for examination this morning.

Pritchett Then Is Thrown Out of the Game and Is Hurt.

Albert Pritchett of 411 West Fifty-fourth street was in the West Side court yesterday morning with his right arm badly cut. Policeman Boehm of the West 100th street station house charged Pritchett with being a disorderly person. Pritchett said that he had been to 141 West Ninetieth street to play in a poker game on Saturday night to see if he could win back some money he had lost. He lost more, he said, and made a kick. Then he was kicked out himself and got out by going through the glass panel of the door in Magistrate Harris said he was much surprised that the poker game had not been raided. He discharged Pritchett.

JAMES RODMAN'S GOOD-BYE

Corked Up in a Bottle—He Doesn't Live Where He Says He Does.

A corked bottle floating in the Harlem River near the High Bridge attracted the attention yesterday of Jesse Varian, 12 years old, of 1288 Ogden avenue, and two boys chums. They fished it out. It was a note. It read:

DEAR FRIENDS: Do not look for me as my body will be at the bottom of the East River. JAMES RODMAN, 19 Box street, Greenpoint, L. I.

The lads took the bottle to the High Bridge police station and the Greenpoint police were notified. They said no such person ever lived at 19 Box street.

STATE OUSTS COMPRESS CO.

Court Orders Gulf Company to Close Out Its Business in Mississippi.

New Orleans, Sept. 22.—Chancellor Hicks of the Mississippi Circuit Court has brought the suit against the Gulf Compress Company to a sudden stop by ordering it to close out its business and withdraw from the State within twelve months.

The suit was brought by the District Attorney of Warren county on the ground that the company was violating the laws of the State of Mississippi in that it combined and controlled a large number of cotton presses in the State, thus monopolizing the business and fixing the price of cotton pressing.

An injunction was issued prohibiting the company from operating, with the result of severely interfering with the business in Mississippi, to the great injury of the farmers. This is now followed by a final decision ordering the company to go out of business within a year.

The Court refused, however, to fine the company for violating the laws of the State as the act permitted. The case will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

The Gulf Compress Company owns or controls thirty-one compresses in the South, sixteen of which are located in Mississippi. The suit was brought by the District Attorney directly as the result of the purchase of an independent compress at Vicksburg by the Gulf Compress Company. It was alleged by the State that this compress was purchased in violation of the Mississippi anti-trust law, which prohibits one corporation from purchasing the interests of a competitive corporation. When the District Attorney filed his suits here a temporary order was issued by the Chancellor restraining the operation of all plants owned by the company in the State. On Thursday Chancellor Hicks issued a relief order permitting the presses to resume operations pending the decision of the suits.

CURRY MAN SHOT AT

By a Coughlin Man and Both of Them Arrested.

John J. McGrane, an election district captain in the Thirtieth Assembly district and a supporter of Frank Coughlin, who is trying to win the leadership from Curry, was in Breen Bros' place at Fifty-second street and Tenth avenue yesterday when Thomas Mitchell came in and began to loud Curry. The two men went out on the sidewalk to see whether Curry or Coughlin was the better man. After they had fought several minutes McGrane drew a revolver and fired at Mitchell. The bullet grazed Mitchell's left arm, but he had nerve enough to go after McGrane and wrest the weapon from him. Then a policeman arrested the pair.

Boys Held as Pickpockets.

Benjamin Gordon, 16 years old, of 183 Clinton street, and Louis Rosenbaum, the same age, of 144 Madison street, New York, were arrested in the First Criminal Court, Newark, this morning, on a charge of being professional pickpockets. They were arrested in front of the Centre Market, Newark, on Saturday night by detectives after it was alleged, they stole the pocketbook of Mrs. Edith Fairfax of 79 Academy street, containing a sum of money.

WOMAN HELPER ROBS DOCTOR.

After Three Years as His Assistant She Stole When He Is Laid Up.

Mary Brook was arrested yesterday charged with grand larceny in stealing silverware, jewelry and surgical instruments valued at about $1,000 from Dr. Ernest H. Felix Pirker of 33 West Ninety-seventh street. At Police Headquarters she confessed to Inspector McCallerty that she had robbed Dr. Pirker. Detectives went to her room, at 144 Lexington avenue, and recovered most of the stuff.

She was in Dr. Pirker's employ as an office assistant for three years. Last January he was thrown out of a carriage at Aubrey Park and was laid up for seven weeks. While he was in a hospital she cleaned out the office.

Private detectives and the regulars got no trace of the woman until a few days ago. The doctor himself saw her yesterday at the Manhattan end of the Brooklyn Bridge with a young Italian, who put up a fight until Central Office men stepped in.

The prisoner is 30 years old. Ten years ago she was married to George Brook, a soldier in the Foreign Legion, in Paris, she was. He died several years ago and she then came to this country. While traveling to this city from Boston she was introduced to Dr. Pirker by a lawyer.
